The character trait for February is honesty. We also will celebrate Kindness Week on February 12-16. I want to share a bingo game that will help strengthen both skills, honesty, and kindness this month. I suggest starting with reading through the bingo card with your child to discuss each square and how the acts in the squares are acts of kindness. Be sure to talk with the students about how it sounds, to be honest, and kind at the same time. For example, when a student says that watermelon is the best and their favorite flavor of candy, a kind and honest response from me would be, "Well, I'm really glad you like watermelon because I don't. Now I know who to give my watermelon candy to." I don't need to disagree with them.

I hope you enjoy this activity. For more ideas, visit
